Dear Colleagues:

Mark your calendars for the 2006 Southern Neurosurgical Society Meeting to be held in beautiful Bermuda from March 2nd through March 5th! What could be nicer than experiencing the elegant traditions of the Southern Neurosurgical in the magnificent setting of the Fairmont Southampton Resort on the pink sandy beaches of Bermuda? Your Program Committee and your President, Dr. Winfield Fisher, have arranged another outstanding scientific program. This year's theme, "Great Debates in Neurosurgery," addresses the role of new and emerging technologies in complex cases of intracranial vascular disease, brain tumors, and disc disease. The 2006 William Henry Hudson lecturer will be Dr. Edward Oldfield, Director of the Neurosurgical Branch of the NIH. The legendary Duke Sampson will deliver the R. Eustace Semmes lecture.

Please join your friends and colleagues in what will surely be one of the most outstanding opportunities for continuing medical education in neurosurgery in the coming year. Enjoy with us the traditional hospitality and graceful social events for which the Southern is famous! Pack your passport, your thinking cap and your bathing suit and let's celebrate spring in Bermuda!

The Southern Neurosurgical Society invites you to Southampton, Bermuda the site of the 2006 Annual Meeting. Nearly 500 years ago the Spanish navigator Juan de Bermudez discovered Bermuda. Its treacherous reefs led the Spanish to name Bermuda, "The Isle of Devils." The 1609 storm that shipwrecked the Sea Venture on the reefs was immortalized in Shakespeare's "The Tempest." Survivors' tales of beauty lured settlers to call the island home. Perhaps Bermuda's appeal lies in its subtropical nature, temperate climate and rich tapestry of cultures. The diminutive 21 square mile island lies 650 miles east-southeast of North Carolina. Fresh ocean breezes are warmed year round and scented with gardenias, spice and stephanotis. Bermuda's heritage dates back 400 years to Britain, Africa, the Azores, North America and the West Indies. The people, old-timers to newcomers, nurtured in this sunny climate, share a pride of place and a joy of life that is 100 percent Bermudian.

Bright blue skies greet cerulean seas as the day dawns upon an enchanted island. Vibrant vistas blend beautifully with a spirited culture. And gatherings become getaways. With its heritage dating back to the privateers of the sixteenth century, Bermuda entices all with British traditions, colorful architecture, and tropical beauty as captivating as the crystal waters that caress its shores. The pink, gorgeous beaches will embrace you in turquoise, clear water. Uncluttered beaches afford couples and families space of their own for the day. Snorkeling amongst the near reef structures reveal constellations of fish and fauna while scuba diving leads to the discovery of the many wrecks that dot the history of seafaring journeys to the island's shores. Deep sea fishing is another attraction that lends to tall tales and succulent prizes that are hard fought. Parties gather on the beach, fires light and dancers sway to the bass beats of the ebbing tide while the tree frogs come to life and stand in for treble, chirping their tiny voices to an unwritten melody. From the colorful procession of the regiment band to the electrifying energy of the gombey dancers, culture and pride are the hallmarks of Bermuda's heritage. Miles of breathtaking coastline combine with centuries-old British forts and lighthouses making Bermuda as mystical as it is magnificent.

Getting There

You will find that direct flights to Bermuda take anywhere from 1 ½ to 2 ½ hours from most gateway cities on the North American eastern seaboard (i.e. Charlotte 2 hours, Atlanta 2 ½ hours, Orlando 2 ½ hours, Fort Lauderdale 2 ¾ hours).

Proof of Citizenship and Identification

Note: As of December 31, 2005 U.S. citizens returning to the U.S. must have valid passports. From this date, passports will be the only recognized travel document for American travelers returning to the U.S. Make sure you have your identification and ticket documentation with you. (NOTE: Travel documents must match traveler's legal name that is printed on the airline ticket. If this is not the case, legal proof of the name change (e.g., marriage certificate) must be presented. If it is not presented, the individual could be denied boarding and entry into Bermuda.) For requirements on travel documents for children check for updates from either your travel agent, airline or immigration websites (see below Customs). For further information on passports visit http://travel.state.gov/passport/passport_1738.html

Customs

On entering the Bermuda International Airport Arrivals Hall, follow the signs directing Visitors and Non-Residents to the Immigration desks. Screens around the hall will display reminders of which documents you need to present at the Immigration Desk.

All documents should be completed and signed where indicated, BEFORE you reach the Immigration Desk. Make sure you have the following in hand:

- Bermuda Immigration Passenger Forms – one for each adult and child
- A Bermuda Customs Declaration Form – one for each family
- Your Airline Tickets – as proof of return or onward flights
- A Valid Passport – one for each adult and child

Before you leave this area a colored Customs Card will be given to you.

Once through Immigration, proceed straight to the Baggage Claim area. When you have collected your luggage, proceed towards the exit. You will be greeted by a Customs Officer who will check your bags, take the colored card, and send you through the Exit or on to the Custom Hall for a baggage check.

Visitors entering Bermuda may bring in for their personal use and consumption personal clothing and effects including sports equipment, cameras, golf bags, etc., also 50 cigars, 200 cigarettes, 1 liter liquor, 1 liter wine, and $30 gift allowance all duty free.

Under the Pharmacy and Poisons Act every medically prescribed drug or medication must be voluntarily declared to a Customs Officer.

Visitors to Bermuda are permitted to take back merchandise, duty free. U.S. Customs and Border Protection has a preclearance facility in the Bermuda International Airport. All passengers departing to the U.S. must fill out written declaration forms in Bermuda before clearing U.S. Customs and Border Protection. These forms are available at travel agencies and airlines in Bermuda. The duty free limit is $800 (exemption includes 200 cigarettes, 100 non-cuban cigars) after 48 hours and every 30 days.

Note: Plant materials that will propagate are not permitted entry without prior permission from your own country. Also, it is advisable to check your own liquor laws before coming to Bermuda.

Recommended check-in at the Bermuda International Airport is 2 hours before departure time – head straight to your airline's Check-in Counter. You will need your airline tickets, the completed departure portion "Form B" of the "Government of Bermuda Immigration Passenger Form", passport/personal identification and a completed and signed United States Customs – Declaration Form, CF 6059B. After checking-in, passengers visiting or returning to the U.S. may purchase items from the Duty Free Store. You may then proceed through U.S. Customs and Border Protection checks. (This unique privilege saves you time on arrival at your initial U.S. destination.) Airport Security checks follow, prior to boarding your flight.

Climate

Bermuda is a sub-tropical island. There is no rainy season as such and there is no normal month of excess rain. The weather does not often interfere with the enjoyment of outdoor sports and recreation. The air temperature range in March is 58-68 degrees Fahrenheit with a sea temperature range of 61-66 degrees Fahrenheit.

Clothing

The atmosphere in Bermuda's visitor accommodations, and indeed of Bermuda itself, is one of British reserve and dignified informality. As a rule of thumb, dress conservatively. Bathing suits, abbreviated tops and short shorts are not acceptable except at beaches and pools. In public (including public areas of hotels) beachwear must be covered. Bare feet are not acceptable anywhere in public. It is an offense to ride cycles or appear in public without a shirt or just wearing a bathing suit top. Joggers may wear standard running shorts and shirts.

Casual sportswear is acceptable in restaurants at lunchtime but some restaurants and nightclubs in and out of hotels may request gentlemen to wear a jacket and tie in the evenings. It is best to check on dress requirements when making reservations as some places do have casual evenings periodically.

December to late March light woolens or fall-weight casuals, sweaters, raincoat and warmer jacket, windbreaker or coat, with swim suit for warmer days. Evenings call for casual elegant lightweight woolens; ladies, dressier sweater or wrap and cocktail-type outfits; gentlemen, a suit or sports jacket and tie.

Child Care

Babysitters are mothers with child experience and are available 24-hours a day. The price for one child is $15.00 U.S. Dollars per hour with a minimum of three hours. Each additional child is an extra $2.00 U.S. Dollars per hour. A meal at the guest's charge will be served to the babysitter if the service exceeds six hours. After 11:00 PM, the guest will be responsible to pay $10.00 for the babysitter's transportation. Arrangements may be made with the Hotel Operator.

Children's Activity Center

Discover the adventure, fun and excitement of Explorers Camp. Designed for children ages five years and up, and supervised in appropriate age groups to enjoy a wide variety of activities from sporting events to scavenger hunts. A typical day includes a field trip or arts and crafts, a movie, and the pool or beach.

Night time activities are available for the 7 & Up Club Tuesdays through Saturdays from 6:30-10:30 PM. Facilities include video arcade, big screen TV, Play Station 2, Nintendo 64, ping-pong table, basketball shoot, air hockey and arts and craft stations.
